

POST-DOCTORAL POSITION AT GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY

The Department of Biostatistics, Bioinformatics and Biomathematics at Georgetown University has an open postdoctoral position in methodology development for metabolomics. The successful candidate will be knowledgeable in biostatistical methodology, proficient with statistical programming packages, and possess good oral and written communication skills. Requirements are a PhD Computer Science, Biostatistics/Statistics, Mathematics, or Biomedical Engineering. The position will be for a two year term with an immediate start date.

All qualified candidates should send resume, a list of three references, and cover letter to:

Françoise Seillier-Moiseiwitsch, Ph.D., Chair
Department of Biostatistics, Bioinformatics, and Biomathematics
Georgetown University Medical Center
4000 Reservoir Road, NW
Washington, DC 20057
E-mail: Ms. Laurie Silver – lrs8 at georgetown dot edu
<http://dbbb.georgetown.edu>