
Committee of Presidents of Statistical Societies

Florence Nightingale David Award

Past Award Recipients

- (2001) Nan M. Laird
For exemplary leadership addressing challenging issues in genetics and public health; and for her inspiring role in guiding statisticians learning to balance their personal and professional lives.
- (2003) Juliet Popper Shaffer
For her pioneering contributions to statistical methods in education and psychometrics; for her exceptional role in fostering opportunities for and in support of the advancement of women in the sciences.
- (2005) Alice S. Whittemore, Stanford University
For her achievements in the theory and methodology of biostatistics applied to epidemiology, environmental pollution, occupational exposure, cancer genetics and public health; for her active role in the statistical profession; for her constant involvement in major public health issues; and for the role model for women she has engendered by the above.
- (2007) Nancy Flournoy, University of Missouri - Columbia
For her fundamental research contributions in adaptive designs, sequential analysis, clinical trials, and particularly in bone marrow transplantation trials; for her devoted teaching; for her passionate mentoring to young statisticians, new investigators, women and minorities, and researchers in small universities; for her leadership in the profession including her role as the chair of a major statistics department.
- (2009) Nancy Margaret Reid, University of Toronto
For her pioneering research in statistical asymptotics, her imaginative teaching, and her outstanding record of service to the statistical profession.
- (2011) Marie Davidian, North Carolina State University
For important contributions to the development of methods for analyzing data from longitudinal studies and clinical trials, and for outstanding leadership and dedication to the statistical profession.